Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 2-37 and 39-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The original specification does not teach a structure that will only permit capillary force applied to the fluid. Additionally pressure can always be applied to a capillary channel to supersede the capillary force. It is not clear what structure would be required to permit only capillary force.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 2-37 and 39-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 39 the language "effected exclusively by capillary forces" is vague and indefinite what structure is intended. It is not clear what structure could exclude other fluid forces and permit only capillary forces (e.g. pressure can always be applied to a capillary channel and overrule the capillary force).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 1743

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 2-37 and 39-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shartle et al. (USP 5,230,866), Columbus (USP 4,426,451), Subramanian et al., or Cottingham.

See the appropriate paragraph of the previous Office action.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 1/7/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants traverse the rejection over Subramanian on the basis that each chamber porous element is inserted to provide for capillary forces. Applicants further state Subramanian also teaches in column 6 lines 15+ the fluid flows by capillary force. It seems that Applicants are acknowledging Subramanian teaches capillary force which reads on the instant claims.

The remainders of Applicants remarks are that none of the cited prior art employs capillary forces to the exclusion of all other forces. In light of the above 35 USC 112 issues above, the Office cannot comment further on this issue.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 1743

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
